

4 reasons to enter the GO Awards

Celebrating Excellence in Public Procurement

1

Gain recognition for your hard work

If your organisation has demonstrated outstanding work in procurement this year, then this is cause for a celebration. The GO Awards offer a night of showcasing achievements, innovative projects and great collaboration with other leaders in the industry.

2

Establish yourself as an industry leader

Leading figures from the procurement sector across the UK attend the GO Awards. Should your entry reach finalist status, you will raise your organisation's profile and share your success story alongside peers, clients and other stakeholders.

3

Motivate your team

There is no better way to inspire your team than attending the GO Awards. Learn from other excellent examples of best practice throughout the year and set new goals for the future.

4

Make a real difference

Effective procurement can impact the way people live their lives. In a continually changing social and political climate, this is important to remember. The GO Awards showcases the valuable work organisations do and how procurement is making a difference for everyone.
